SHANGHAI KEEPS POLO CUP; H'KONG TEAM BEATEN

Exciting Game Here Goes To Extra Chukkers

BIBBY INJURED

Visiting Star Carried From Field In Ambulance

Straight polo playing, individually and in combination retained the Kewwick challenge cup for Shanghai yesterday against the Hongkong four. Ponies and other factors were negligible. Shanghai won on its merits. The play went to two extra chukkers, to a final score of 6-5.

A good attendance watched the match with a sharp eye on the ponies, which had been accredited in a certain local press as the ruling factor in the final selection of the Shanghai team. And they failed to find that horses rather than polo players won the important match.

David at No. 1 for Shanghai, while he played a steady and safe game throughout was not especially evident in the scoring in spite of the fact that he had been boosted as one of the fastest mounted men in the match. Dallas, the veteran local player, with a big stable of racing-ponies behind him, including Freeland, Starland and Freeback gave a fine exhibition of offensive and defensive polo, scoring one goal in the fifth chukker, though his ponies' speed was not especially noticeable otherwise. Local players not so well mounted counted the most of the scores.

The match was an even thing until the final chukker of the pre-arranged schedule. Shanghai and Hongkong had scored to even advantage for a total of 5 goals to 5 until the final bell, when the match went to extra chukkers the match appeared an even proposition.

An injury following a sharp hit between the knee and the shin to Mr. Bibby put the visiting team one short in the eighth chukker after a fine and even session of play. The mishap and the consequent weakening of the Hongkong team put the match greatly in favor of the local four.

At the opening of play Nevins and Robinson stood out in their individual play. Boyd was working very hard for Hongkong though not in the form he displayed here last year. Bibby started well, but he failed to stand to his usual form. Dallas was playing an easy game, almost up to his best form of earlier days.

McMichael scored very shortly after the opening of the match. Boyd equalized for Hongkong almost immediately, and just as the bell rang repeated for a score of 2-1. McMichael finished off an equalizing goal for Shanghai after a brave attempt by Hongkong, which was but partly cleared.

Davis showed a fine piece of riding in the third chukker, when he brought the ball to center and gave McMichael a good chance for the goal. Robinson followed with a sensational back hand drive which Robinson took for

Wants Britain To Close Postoffices In China 'Like Japan'

(Reuter's Service)
London, June 21.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Colonel Sir Walter De Frece who declared that Japan had already withdrawn most of her post offices in China and suggested that the Government should imitate the example, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth said that arrangements were being made to withdraw the British Post Offices by January 1923, in accordance with the Washington Agreement. The Government had no information with regard to the position in respect of the withdrawal of Japanese post offices.

UPPER YANGTZE SHIPPING RATE WAR NEARS END

Companies Meet To Find Way Out Of Costly Competition

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Ichang, June 17.—The rate war continues amongst the shipping companies at Chungking, and although the rate for cotton yarn has not gone lower than Tls. 4 per bale, there has been a great cutting in passenger fares. One steamer which left recently was charging as low as $5.50 for a third class ticket, $11 for second class and $16.50 for first. The companies, however, have realized that they cannot continue their services at these prices and a meeting was held yesterday of representatives of the companies for the purpose of agreeing on a common rate.

It has been agreed that the sum of Tls. 8 shall be charged for each bale of cotton yarn from Ichang to Chungking, and Tls. 3.50 per piece for general cargo.

Passengers will, in future, have to pay $30, $40 and $50 for first, second and third class fares, while the foreign passenger fare to Chungking is to remain at $35.

The matter of taxation on the upper river is having a serious effect on trade on the upper river. There are many collecting offices either self supporting or under the military and it has been clearly established, for instance, that salt is paying as much as $9.90 per bag of two piculs of illegal taxation on the way to this port.

Junks flying the house flag of foreign honors are not immune from these taxes, and, even the steamers have to "pay up and look pleasant" otherwise the conditions of last year might be reimposed on them.

Sometimes the shippers pay, and sometimes the steamers pay, but in any case these illegal imposts are duly collected. It is the merchant who pays first but every cash of these illegal taxes must eventually fall on the consumer and all this contribute to the great rise in prices to the humble peasant and worker of China.

London, June 21.—Mr. de Valera, in a statement to the Press on the subject of the Republican election defeat said that Ireland under a threat of war voted as England desired, but that Ireland's sentiments were not changed.

They still prayed that England's difficulty might be Ireland's opportunity. The Constitution was only a draft and he did not believe that the Dail Eireanna would pass it as it stood because it was a test act excluding from public service and practically disfranchising every honest Republican.

London, June 21.—The most notable of the Irish election results today were that the Republicans, Mr. Erskine Childers, with only 572 votes at the bottom of the poll for Kildare and Wicklow and the defeat of Mrs. Pearse, the only Republican nominee for Dublin County, where voting ten to one for the Treaty, surpassing Dublin City's record which was seven to one.

Only two out of six women members of the Dail Eireanna have been re-elected. They were all anti-Treaty candidates.

London, June 21.—The Catholic hierarchy, in a manifesto denouncing the anti-Catholic and anti-Protestant outrages in Ulster and South Ireland respectively, calls on the people to aid the Government to bring the criminals to justice and says that the primary duty of the Government is to crush the lawless elements.

Lives Of Missionaries In Danger As Kiangsi Troops Are Routed By Invaders

Butchery, Looting And Destruction Take Place In Many Important Cities When Defeated Forces Of Chen Kwan-yuan Revolted

The worst atrocities of war are being recorded in cities along the Kan Kiang, principal river in Kiangsi which empties itself into the Poyang, according to telegraphic messages received from various sources yesterday. The routed troops of Chen Kwan-yuan, ex-tachun of Kiangsi, who was forced to flee for safety by Generals Li Lieh-chun, Huang Tai-wei and Hsu Chung-chi of the Anti-Northern Expedition, are the offenders.

From the Catholic mission at Taiho, 20 miles south of Kianfu a Shanghai mission learns that the mission there is spoiled and the lives of the missionaries are in danger. Churches and schools are being destroyed by the routed soldiery while the mission compound is being used by the refugees. Between 500 and 600 Christian and pagan refugees are being given protection by the mission. An appeal for aid was

The two were killed by a gang of gunmen, one of whom is serving a prison term in the Charlestown, Mass., prison, according to the confession, which was made by another man serving a long term in a Southern prison and who declares he had a hand in the killing. The conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti, who were confessed radicals, but who strenuously denied their guilt, was followed by bomb outrages against American diplomatic representatives in Europe.

SOUTHERN NAVY EJECTS DR. SUN FROM GUNBOAT

Former Southern Executive Is Reported On Way To Shanghai

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, ousted President of the Southern Constitutional government at Canton, who was driven from the city by General Chen Chuin-ming's troops, has now been repudiated by the Canton Navy, and is en route to Shanghai to seek refuge here, according to the Chinese press.

Dr. Sun fled to the gun boat Yung Fung when General Chen captured Canton and patrolled the river machine-gunning both sides of the river. On Monday the Navy authorities held a conference with representatives of General Chen at the Ming Lan College at which General Yih Chu, who disarmed Dr. Sun's bodyguards, undertook to be responsible for the Navy's expenses if Dr. Sun were ousted.

The Southern Navy issued a joint declaration on Tuesday asking Dr. Sun to retire from the Southern presidency, reaffirming its allegiance to General Chen Chuin-ming, and assuring the naval officers that their interests would be taken care of in the proposed reunification of the nation by Wu Pei-fu. Dr. Wu Ting-fang, who with Dr. C. C. Wu, his son, was also on board one of the warships, was offered the Civil Governorship of Kwantung but has refused, according to the Chinese newspapers.

Dr. Huang Yen-pe, president of the Kiangsu Educational Association who was offered a week ago the education portfolio in the Yen Cabinet, has declined the offer made by the Minister of Communications, Kao En-heng, to appoint him president of the Communications University, formerly Nanyang College.

Dr. Huang was one of the mediators in the recent students' strike at the university and did much to smooth over the crisis. Minister Kao consequently offered him the presidency through Mr. S. U. Zau, a personal friend of the Minister of Communications.

The students have elected Messrs. S. U. Zau, Hu Tung-fu and H. Y. Moh to proceed to Peking to address their demands on the minister.

HO'S YAMEN MUST GO, SAYS PICKING; TUCHUN'S IS NEXT

Local Defense Commissioner Urged To Relinquish His Office At Once

In compliance with the request of Admiral Tu Shih-kwei, the Peking administration has decided to abolish the Defense Commissioner's Yamen in Shanghai. A Presidential Mandate is expected to be promulgated soon and Admiral Tu will be instructed to proceed to Shanghai as planned.

Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan of Kiangsu has been instructed to take precautionary measures during the change. General Feng Yushiang, the Christian general, is expected to make his headquarters in Hanchowfu after his appointment as Commander-in-Chief of Bandit Suppression Forces of Kiangsu, Anhui and Honan.

Kiangsu residents in Peking have telegraphed to both Tychun Chi and Commissioner Ho, urging them to relinquish their posts in order to rid the province of militarism. The appointment of Feng, they say, will make both the tuchunate and the Shanghai Commission unnecessary.

12 SOLONS HERE FROM CANTON ON WAY TO PEKING

Were Forced By General Chen To Quit Southern Capital

A dozen members of the old Parliament in extraordinary session in Canton under Dr. Sun Yat-sen before his fall arrived in Shanghai by the steamer Hsin Wah from Canton yesterday. Most of the generals appeared to be in distress as they were told to quit Canton by General Chen Chuin-ming within a few hours after the Assembly Hall occupied by them was seized by Chen's troops.

The lawmakers were told that Parliament had been restored in Peking and all its members should at once proceed to Peking to perform their duties. Also that unless the legislators left for the North at once, the Canton soldiery would not be responsible for their safety. Many of these left Canton without finding their baggage.

About 90 other parliamentarians are still in Canton.

LOBINGIER EXONERATED, SAYS 'CABLE TO SCHUHL'

Former Commissioner Hears Judge Will Be Back Next Month

ENDS LONG FIGHT

Fleming, Complainant In Case, Receives No News Of Verdict

Judge Charles S. Lobingier has been exonerated of charges made against him more than a year ago with the State Department by Mr. William S. Fleming and is returning to Shanghai shortly to resume his duties as Judge of the United States Court for China.

This information is given in a code cablegram received yesterday by Mr. F. J. Schuhl, former United States Commissioner. According to the message, Judge Lobingier is leaving Washington and intends to sail for Shanghai from Seattle on the steamer President Grant, formerly the Pine Tree State, of the Admiral Line, which is due to arrive in Shanghai on July 26.

It was announced several weeks ago that the entire case together with a report compiled by Attorney General Harry J. Daugherty had been referred to President Harding for decision. While the verdict has been awaited from day to day since that time, seemingly public announcement of the outcome of the case has been withheld at Washington, for no news dispatches by cable or radio of the decision as set forth in the message to Mr. Schuhl have been received. Mr. Fleming who was responsible for the proceedings against Judge Lobingier and who has been more or less in touch with correspondents at Washington since his return to Shanghai several weeks ago, said last night he had received no reports whatever concerning the case in the past several days.

HISTORY OF CASE
The charges against Judge Lobingier were filed with the State Department by Mr. Fleming in March of last year. It was in July of last year that the celebrated contempt of court proceedings in which Mr. Fleming was sentenced to serve six months imprisonment by Judge Lobingier developed.

After serving eleven days of this sentence Mr. Fleming appealed from Judge Lobingier's decision and obtained release on bail of $2,000 pending the outcome of the appeal. While the charges against Judge Lobingier were still undecided at Washington the Ninth District Court of Appeals in California ruled on Mr. Fleming's appeal, on March 27 last, and upheld the judgment that had been pronounced by Judge Lobingier. Mr. Fleming then filed a motion for rehearing before the Appellate Court and when this motion was denied he proceeded to take the case to the highest American tribunal, the United States Supreme Court.

The U. S. Supreme Court is now adjourned and as it will sit again until autumn, no final decision in the contempt case against Mr. Fleming can be given until that time.

It was within a short period after the contempt proceedings developed in the United States Court for China that the charges Mr. Fleming had made against Judge Lobingier were taken up at Washington by both the Department of State and the Department of Justice. Judge Lobingier proceeded to Washington and he was followed there by Mr. Fleming. That was in August, last year and since that time the United States Court for China has not functioned.

HEARING AT WASHINGTON
Hearing of the charges against Judge Lobingier were opened by a special investigator appointed by the government and a mass of testimony was given through the months of September and October. Mr. Fleming presented his charges in person and Judge Lobingier was present and testified himself. Included in the large number of witnesses heard were Mr. Stirling Fossenden, senior American attorney in Shanghai, Mr. Harold Dolan, Mr. J. B. Powell, Mr. E. H. Everett, former American Postmaster here, Mr. Thomas Millard, and Mr. R. C. Patterson.

A report of the entire proceedings were made to Attorney General Daugherty who reviewed the case and then presented a Report together with recommendations to President Harding. The long absence of a Judge of the United States Court for China has brought about an embarrassing situation in Shanghai, as it became necessary to hold a large number of defendants, criminally accused, an undue length of months for trial while other criminal cases have been delayed unduly and a large number of civil actions likewise have been held up, in some cases to the direct detriment of litigants and of American and other commercial interests.

Though Washington was apprised of this serious state of affairs, it is apparent that those conducting the case have been acting with all deliberation. The American Chamber of Commerce recently cabled to Washington pointing out the acute need of having Judge Lobingier or some Judge sent to Shanghai at once to deal with the mass of cases that have been accumulating.

Mr. Leonard G. Huxar, newly appointed United States District Attorney, said yesterday that his office is prepared to proceed without delay with all pending government cases immediately after Judge Lobingier's return.

INTERVENTION HURTING JAPAN, WRITER DECLARES

Osaka Correspondent At Vladivostok Urges Evacuation

(Rosa News Agency) Yokohama, June 15.—In an article entitled "Unconditional Evacuation of the Vladivostok correspondent of the Osaka Asahi writes that the Japanese Government's policy of maintaining the present situation in the Maritime Province becomes unendurable not only to the Japanese troops but to the very same Japanese residents for whose sake the occupation of Russian land was supposed to be carried out.

The hope of entering into any agreement with Russia is empty talk and all negotiations with her have no fruit if Japan persists in prolonging her intervention. "To be just," says the correspondent, "it is impossible to deny that the very presence of Japanese troops constitutes an obstacle to the political order and peace in this land, and if Japan insists upon her conditions preliminary to evacuation, she is liable to pass by the favorable time and opportunity for a so-called voluntary evacuation, instead of being forced at last to withdraw her troops."

Among various schemes as to what steps will be taken by Japan with regard to the Russian Far East, the correspondent points out one, according to which Japan after evacuation is to call upon her own initiative a Siberia economic conference with the participation of the United States, China, European Russia, Far Eastern Republic and in general all neighboring countries having some relation to Siberia.

This conference, acting upon the principle of the open-door and equal opportunity for all countries, is to discuss the question of economic exploitation of Siberia by foreign capital and also the question of foreign interests in the Trans-Siberian, the Chita, and the Ussuri railways. However, the possibility of such a conference is very doubtful as evidently neither the United States nor European Russia will agree to it. The correspondent concludes his article, by saying that Japanese residents at Vladivostok are at present discussing the question of withdrawing Japanese troops without conditions.

ROYAL ASIATIC SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Doctor Parker Pays Tribute To Sir Everard Fraser and Mr. Samuel Couling

Various interesting reports dealing with the activities of the Shanghai branch of the Royal Asiatic Society were presented yesterday at the annual meeting of the organization at which Dr. P. Parker presided. Mr. Blackburn, the Secretary, announced that Mr. Sidney Barton, M. G., the newly appointed British Consul-General in Shanghai had been elected Chairman of the Society for the ensuing year. In the course of the short address he made Doctor Parker referred eloquently to the loss sustained by the Society in the death of Sir Everard Fraser, who was the Society's President, and of Mr. Samuel Couling, who was one of its Vice Presidents.

"There was a striking similarity in the characters of these two men," the speaker said. "Both of them were studious, men of strong personal and high ideals. Both of them were men of ripe scholarship and had made a life-long study of the Chinese language and literature. Both of them were of a reserved and retiring disposition, hating all that was show and ostentation. Both of them finally stuck to their work doggedly to the end, supporting with great patience and attitude the physical afflictions which were destined finally to bring them to their graves."

"This double loss is a severe blow to the Society and to the cause of scholarship." In presenting her fourteenth report as honorary Librarian of the Society Mrs. F. Ayscough spoke in terms of commendation of the manner in which Mrs. Cecil Maguire had performed the duties of honorary Librarian while Mrs. Ayscough was absent early in the year, saying Mrs. Maguire had sent communications to many authors and publishers placing before them the needs of the Society and adding that the result was a very handsome contribution of books.

Continuing, Mrs. Ayscough spoke of the difficulties of keeping the desire of the Society within the limits of its purse in a matter of obtaining all the new and valuable publications that are appearing. The growing interest throughout the world in all things pertaining to China, she said, is responsible for the publication of so many valuable books dealing with things Chinese. She said that the large number of these books and the general desire to read them move that people more and more seeking to solve the problems of the Far East. The great problem, she added, is how to increase the Society's store of books and said it was a problem also to provide more spacious quarters for them so they may be of use to a larger audience.

Mrs. Ayscough announced with regret Mrs. Maguire's inability to continue in the post of Assistant Librarian, but said that Miss Couling had consented to undertake this work.

In the absence of the acting honorary Curator, Mr. A. S. Blackburn, Secretary read the report of Dr. C. Noel Davis in which was set forth that in the year Doctor Stanley's absence on leave in England the Museum had been maintained in the excellent condition in which he had left it. Reference was made in the report the presentation Doctor Stanley made before his departure of his private collection of reptiles and amphibians and it was suggested that as Doctor Stanley's interest from China is definitely announced a special letter of thanks and appreciation should be addressed to him.

The report says the Society is particularly fortunate in having the honorary services of Mr. A. de Sowerby, the distinguished naturalist and explorer in the context of its zoological department of mention is made of the fact that Mr. Sowerby has loaned his collection of fishes from all parts of China, representing over hundred species. Mr. A. M. Weston also has consented to give his services to this department.

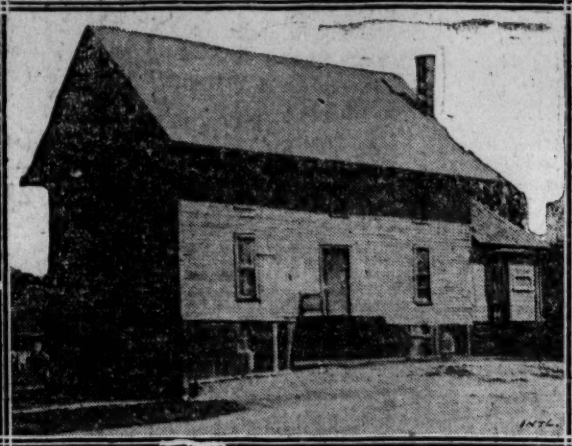

The Rev. Evan Morgan, honorary Editor of the Society's Journal, spoke of features to appear in the forthcoming number and particular he thanked Mr. R. Abraham, for editorial assistance.

After reading the Society's annual statement Mr. A. D. Blackburn presented his report. He said new members had been elected in the course of the year and that the organization now had a membership roll of 582, out half of which were residents of Shanghai.

The reports presented were adopted on motion of Mr. A. M. Duncan seconded by Miss Sowerby.

Harding Agrees To Address Churches Of Whole World

President Will Open Conference On Faith And Order In Washington; Seek Christian Unity

New York, May 21.—Assurance pleased by the receptive manner in which the President listened to his outline of the plans for the conference and then gave his endorsement to the movement. Dr. Manning said that virtually all the Christian churches of the world had now given their endorsement to the movement. The Roman Catholic Church is the only great church not officially committed to the plan, but many high officials of that church have expressed their personal sympathy with the movement, and it is hoped that the Roman Catholic Church will join the other churches of Christendom when the time comes for convening the conference.

"The President," said Bishop Manning, "expressed great interest in the world conference, and assured us he was entirely in sympathy with the movement. He said he would be glad to deliver the opening address, and expressed the hope that nothing would interfere with our plans to hold the conference in Washington."

On his visit to the President, Bishop Manning was accompanied by Bishop Alfred Harding of Washington. They were with the President only a short time, but the interview, Bishop Manning explained, was sufficiently long to enable the two Bishops to present to the President the plans for the conference. Asked if the President's interest covered a wide range of religious subjects, Bishop Manning said:

"The President is very deeply interested in everything that makes for character, for good citizenship and for the advancement of civilization."

The President's willingness to make the opening address at the conference and his endorsement of Christian unity are expected to give tremendous impetus to the movement in which Dr. Manning has been the recognized leader in America, where it originated. The Bishop said he was greatly and Saviour, be asked to unite with us in arranging for and conducting such a conference. The commission shall consist of seven bishops, appointed by the Chairman of the House of Bishops, and seven Presbyters and seven laymen, appointed by the President of the House of Deputies, and shall have power to add to its number and to fill any vacancies occurring before the next general convention."

Soon after the movement was inaugurated and its objects made known to the other Christian denominations, the following churches appointed commissions to confer on the plans for the conference: Episcopal Church, Congregational Church, Disciples of Christ, Presbyterian Church, the Alliance of Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian system, Methodist Episcopal Church, Northern and Southern Baptist Conventions, Moravian Church in America, northern province; Reformed Church, Evangelical Lutheran Church (U. S. A.), United Presbyterian Church, Reformed Presbyterian Church, Free Baptists and the Church of England in Canada.

Since then the Catholic Churches of the East have joined the movement and these include the Russian, Greek and Armenian Catholic Churches.

The conference is to permit of the various Christian communions getting together to consider those things on which they differ. It is hoped that promotion of mutual understanding will result from a comparison of beliefs. The conference would take no official action toward effecting a reunion among divergent creeds, but would strive to inspire greater unity among communions. Invitations to join the conference were extended to all bodies which "confess our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour."

When the preliminary work of the conference was undertaken, Dr. Manning made it plain that the Protestant Episcopal Church planned to take no predominant part in the arrangement of the plans for the World Conference on Faith and Order.

Ichang In Fear Of Mutiny, Gates May Be Closed

(Reuter's Pacific Service) Ichang, June 17.—The anniversary of the looting of 1921 brought it another decided scare among the citizens of Ichang. So far there does not seem to have been justification for the alarm, although there have been several serious robberies with violence lately, which led the people to fear that there might be another mutiny of troops.

The Merchants' Brigade was called out and there has been some talk of closing the 200 gates which have been erected throughout the city. The authorities are vigilant and are taking energetic steps to put down the robbers, several of whom have been arrested and executed in public places in order to intimidate others. But in many cases villages have been held up and people and houses robbed without any steps being taken to catch the offenders.

Two days ago a woman was brought into the Church of Scotland Mission Hospital suffering from serious wounds. She was a native of a village called Penhsan, about 15 miles north of the city. Robbers attacked the farm, at which she was a servant, carried off all the grain and live stock and brutally cut the woman about the face with their swords.

The local Commandant is taking energetic steps to put a stop to these armed robberies.

BRITISH ISLES OFF AFRICA ARE OUT OF MATCHES

Japanese Ship First In Year
To Touch With Worker
In Island Mission

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 17.—The captain of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha's vessel, Takoma Maru, which has just returned to port from the South Atlantic coast, tells the story of the first visit of a Japanese vessel to Tristan da Cunha, the chief of a group of islands in the South Atlantic, which belong to Great Britain. When the Takoma Maru was about to leave Capetown on her homeward voyage on March 27, the captain was asked to take a missionary named Rogers and his wife to Tristan da Cunha. The permission of the Japanese consul was obtained, and the vessel proceeded to the island, which was reached on April 17.

When the ship arrived, the islanders, all in strange costume, hastened to the side of the vessel to greet the new comers. They declared that this was the first vessel that had touched at the island for twelve months, that is, since the first missionary stationed there had left on the expiration of his term of service. The islanders' first request was for a supply of matches. The supply, they told the captain, had long ago run out and they had kept a fire going continuously for nearly a year. Matches as well as a variety of canned goods were given them by the captain, gifts that the islanders warmly appreciated.

Catholics Here Bid Farewell To Father J. A. Croke

Scores of friends of Father John A. Croke, S. J., of St. Joseph's Church gathered in the rooms of the Catholic Club on Avenue Edward VII yesterday afternoon to bid farewell to the popular priest, who is leaving Shanghai tomorrow for England on the S. S. Asay Le Rideau.

The farewell reception was organized by the executive council of St. Joseph's Catholic Association of which Father Croke was president, and was a fitting tribute to the splendid work which he has done during the two years that he has been in parish work in Shanghai. A farewell address and presentation were made by Frank L. Smith, acting president of St. Joseph's Catholic Association, and Father R. Jaquinot de Bessange also spoke. Father Croke replied briefly, thanking his friends for their kindly interest.

Father Croke has been in China for the last two years coming here shortly after his ordination to priesthood in the Society of Jesus. Previous to this he had been a scholastic in Shanghai and several years ago was a teacher at the Szechwan Seminary. He is a native of Dublin and joined the Paris province of the Jesuit Order that he might come to China. He studied at Jersey, England, and later in France, before coming to Shanghai the first time.

Orders Arrest Of Pro-Jap Mandarins

A Presidential Mandate on Wednesday ordered the arrest of Tsoo Ju-lin and Lu Chung-yu, the two pro-Japanese officials, and their punishment in accordance with law. Both were charged with embezzling government funds. According to the report of Mr. Kao En-hung, the Minister of Communications, irregularities have been discovered in the account books with reference to several loans handled by them. The homes of the two defendants in Peking have been sealed. Both have fled to Tientsin and are planning to take the first available boat for Japan. They are living in the Japanese Consulate and heavily guarded by Japanese detectives.

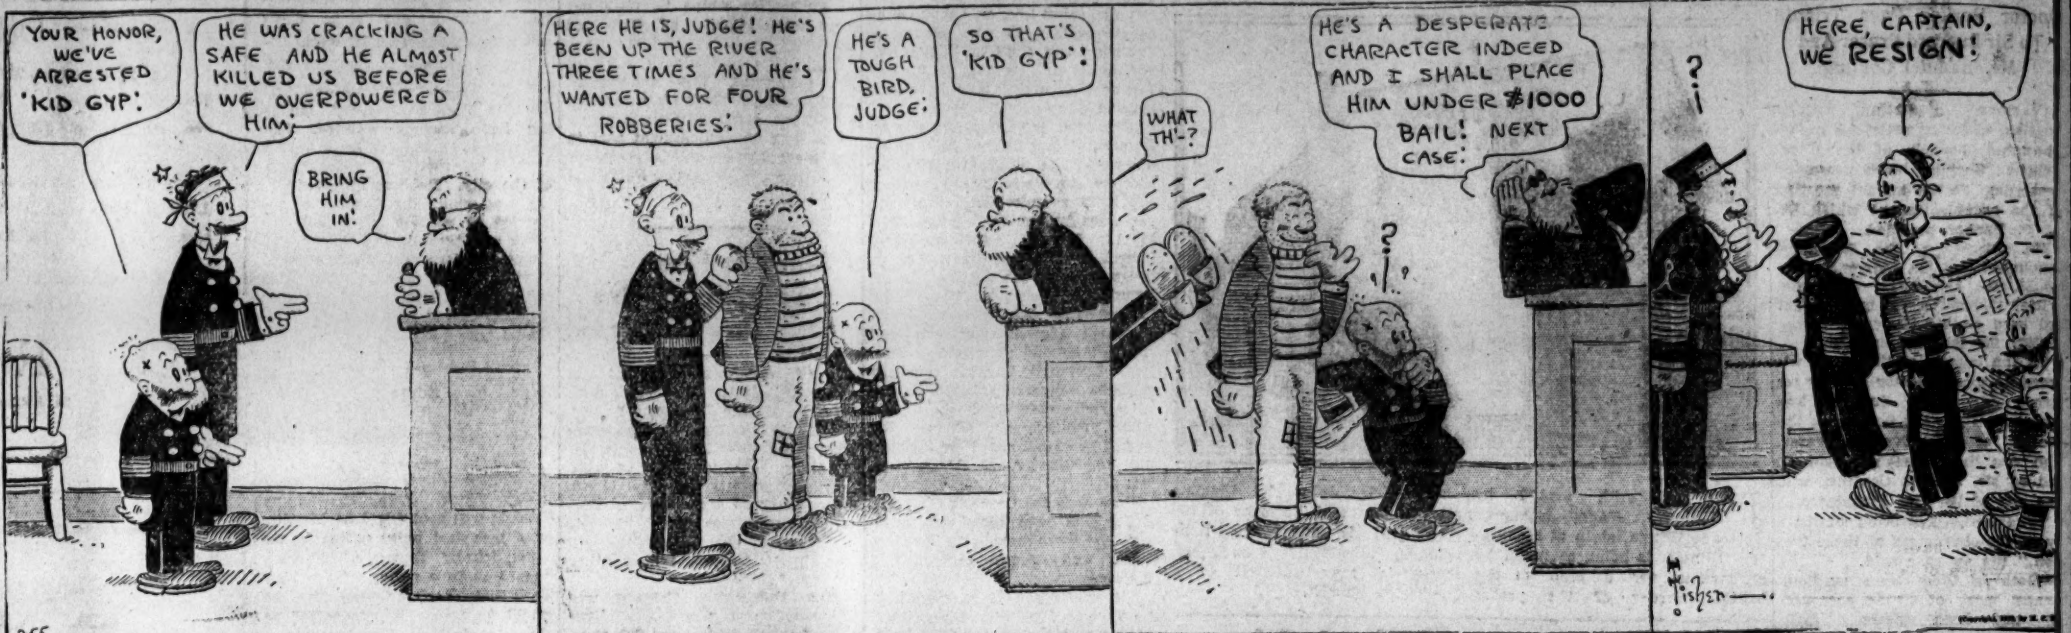

WATER SHORTAGE

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 19.—The great scarcity of the rain has brought about a shortage of water in and around the Metropolitan area. Many wells are reported as having gone dry. No trouble has been felt by the water works as yet but care should be taken to conserve the present supply. Naturally, the excessive heat has caused the use of an abnormal amount of water which makes the situation the more serious.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ARE GUESTS AT ROTARY Tiffin

Officers Of Organisation
Describe Its Activities
In Addresses

Members of the Shanghai Rotary Club were told something of the activities of the Shanghai Branch of the King's Daughters yesterday at the Rotary Club's weekly tiffin meeting at which a group of officers and members of the King's Daughters were guests.

Besides Mrs. Henman of the Cathedral School for Girls, Miss D. Simon and Mrs. Ada Hodges, President, Secretary and Treasurer respectively of the King's Daughters, a number of leaders of circles of the organization were present at the tiffin including the Misses Trueman, Ashley, Danson, Ware and Mesdames Grant, Brewer, J. J. Evans and Jack Shengle. Brief addresses dealing with the work of the King's Daughters were made by Mrs. Henman, Miss Simon and Mrs. Hodges.

In telling of the history of the King's Daughters, Mrs. Henman said it was an international organization with headquarters in America, and she added that its name frequently gave rise to the belief that it was a British body. She explained to her hearers that the name referred to the Heavenly King, not one of the earth.

The King's Daughters, she said, was essentially a Protestant body and commonly cases of need its members met with, when found to be of other faiths, were referred to societies of those faiths.

Among the activities of the Shanghai branch of the organization, she said, was the overseeing of charities maintained by the Shanghai Municipal Council and in this connection she said that all funds received were expended solely for charitable purposes, as the club's quarters at 5 North Soochow Road were maintained by subscriptions of members.

The work of the organization is carried on by divisions of the membership called circles, the Gaskin Circle, composed of the youngest and unmarried members, the Town Circle, composed of members who are married, and the Western Circle, composed of the older married members.

In speaking Miss Simon mentioned the ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the Convalescent Home, a project of the King's Daughters, building of which is being started. The cornerstone laying is to take place next Saturday on the site on Hungjiao Road. Concerning this new and badly needed institution Mrs. Hodges said that while the building fund had been raised, the King's Daughters still were without means to provide equipment for the new Home.

Ex-Finance Head's Peking Home Sealed

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 19.—Yesterday while the Cabinet was in session, President Li Yuan Hung summoned the commander of the Metropolitan Gendarmerie by telephone to come to his office. As a result of this, the Gendarmerie sealed the residences of Mr. Tung Shih-ming, former acting Minister of Finance, Mr. Tsoo Ju-lin, ex-president of the Bank of Communications, and Mr. Lu Chun-yu, President of the Exchange Bank of China.

The latter two were leaders of the old Chiaotung clique, and this action is said to have been taken because the Minister of Finance and Minister of Communications have found discrepancies in the accounts. It is said that over $2,000,000 was given to help General Chang Tso-lin in the last fight, and that there are expenditures of $1,570,000 for which no receipts can be found. Up to midnight the houses still remained sealed.

At the conference this week at Paoingfu, the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Communications, discussed the question of floating a short term loan for about $10,000,000. This is planned to be handled in the same manner as the 7th year Loan of the Chinese Republic. Consideration was also given as to how to get hold of the $96,000,000 loan which is still in the custody of the Bank of Com-

Shanghai Beats Buffalo In Bob Tailed Contest; Hoppy's Hitting, Feature

Locals Triumph Over Visiting Sailors By 6-3 Score

BY WESTA
Shanghai is rapidly becoming a Keeley Cure for baseball. The moguls who mope the pastime here evidently have concluded that Shanghai fans and fanatics have yielded to the cravings of their appetites for hits and runs, and stolen bases and etc. until they are in danger of becoming topers, and that they stand in need of a tapering off process.

Whatever their theory, they certainly have been handing out the tapers of late. With the arrival of three thousand gobs in port, theoretically insuring a "whole flock of competition, they began by lopping off a couple of innings, even on days when the sun was riding high and pretty when the stretch session arrived.

Yesterday's game between the Buffalo and Shanghai teams was amputated still further, all hands agreeing to call it a day at the end of five and a half innings, and this when there was still plenty of light for at least another brace of spams.

"What thing?" boomed one of the regular ticket toters when it dawned on him and the other customers that half a game was all they were to draw for that day's ration. "What thing?" he repeated, "Is this the bob tailed league?"

Bob tailed league is right. If it keeps up the payee will be able to see all there is to see of every game as they sit by in their richas or the trams on their way home to dinner, without any necessity of moving into the stands. If they keep on bobtailing the contests Pop and Julius can withdraw their handsome cup and substitute a thimble, and stipulate that the winners of it shall be announced to the world as the Tabloid Terrors, champions of the hit and runners—hit one for tip and run to the showers.

That's that! As to yesterday's contest, there wasn't much to it except Cap'n Hopkins and his big stick. The Shanghai field marshal stopped up there three times, and each time there was a resounding thump immediately followed by a pair of Buffalo legs pumping far into the rhubarbs to retrieve the scrambling leather.

Hoppy lost no time in getting started on his afternoon's rampage, and at the rate he was going when the shades were drawn—when the shades were drawn, not when they fell—he was in a fair way to establish a season's record for consecutive clouting. In the first session, after two had whiffed, he crowned one of Griffith's shoots for a smoking two bagger that pushed Jawn Scott, who had ambled to first, all the way to third, where he perished when Wood was set down on strikes for the third out. Thus the two sacker, aside from whetting Hoppy's appetite for more gore, was wasted.

In the next session, which was the one in which Shanghai packed the old ball game on ice, Mr. Thatch began by stinging a single to right. Hirsch, next man up, caught one in the slats and strolled, a wide grin wreathing his handsome mug. Maloney then clouted one over second, scoring Thatch. White got on when the third strike eluded the Buffalo backstopper and stuck to first while Bills perished via a pop-up to Stone. Harry Kingman's cloud sweeper to left enabled Hirsch to trot home and Scott's liner sent Maloney in and White around to third, from where he scored when Hoppy connected for his second clout of the day. Wood was tossed out at first, ending the inning, a Total, four counters.

That flock of tallies seemed to stir the ire of the Buffalo crew, for they immediately set about to commit murder. Clark, first man up, caught one of Mal's shoots on the nose and when White finally recovered it he was perched on third. Fritch whiffed, but Boland connected, sending the left fielder home. Dumas then flew out to Hoppy, immediately followed by Evans, who flew out almost to the Lawn Bowls club, pulling up at third. Boland registering counter No. 2. Hirsch then allowed one of Mal's shoots to get away and Evans trotted home Griffith lifted to Kingman for the third out. Three runs.

In the fourth our gang counted two more, thanks largely to the generosity of Boland, the Buffalo wicket keeper, who left his mit on the bench and operated through the inning with his hand clasped in a sleeve. Thatch, first man up, was tossed out at first and Hirsch, following was struck out, but the strike-out didn't stick, due to the fact

Baseball Notes

Everybody is glad to see Hoppy hitting the way he is at present, and all hope that he will maintain his present lick. When the team leader is doing his full share the others have a mark to shoot at, which always is a good thing for morale.

Bills made a sweet stop of Roe's boulder in the sixth, chasing clear over to second to gather in a bad hopper that was heading to the suburbs with all kinds of jazz attached to it. The shortstopper scooped it and flung it to Kingman with unerring arm. The liberal hand that he received for his effort was well deserved.

Boland, the Buffalo catcher, had rather a bad day back of the bat, no less than three of Griffith's shoots getting through him. Two of his passed balls were third strikes, both of which ultimately were cashed for runs. Boland is a neat workman, however, and the Shanghai receiving department would give a lot for his whip.

Dinny admitted after the game that he fumbled a decision at first. First one he ever missed, he added.

Evans and Clark, of the Buffalo crew, poled beautiful three baggers, but unfortunately for them, nobody was on when Clark hit and only one when Evans connected. It would have been pay-day for the mother ship gang if the sacks had been populated when these snacks were spanked out.

The spectators look upon the whole baseball proposition in one way; the players in another. Both are right, but both viewpoints need slight readjustment.

The spectators are unable to understand why a game advertised to start at 4:45 o'clock doesn't start at that time. They go to the park day after day and day after day they see the players dilly dally around, wasting time and apparently not in the least concerned about getting the game started. Naturally, they are peeved. They contend the games should be started exactly as advertised, so they can make their arrangements accordingly.

The players answer that it is not always possible to start the games on time, due to the non-arrival of some player whose services are essential to the success of the team, but who for any one of a number of reasons—usually business reasons—is unable to get out on time. Moreover, the players contend that they are doing the spectators a favor in playing at all. They are not paid for it. It is nothing particularly to them whether there is a game or not. They are willing to do the best they can, but bearing in mind that they, too, are business men, will other and more important matters than baseball demanding their attention, it is not to be expected of them that they drop everything and run to the baseball park, merely to save the fans from disappointment.

Answering this the fans retort that they fully appreciate the position of the players, and that they make no unreasonable demands. They merely ask that every effort be made to get the games started as quickly as possible, and that, on occasion, it is not asking too much to suggest that substitute be started in a game and kept there an inning or so until the regular arrives. The fans do not always understand why it is necessary to put on a practice period when the game is already delayed a half hour or more, and when the remaining period of daylight is so short as to preclude the possibility of more than a few innings.

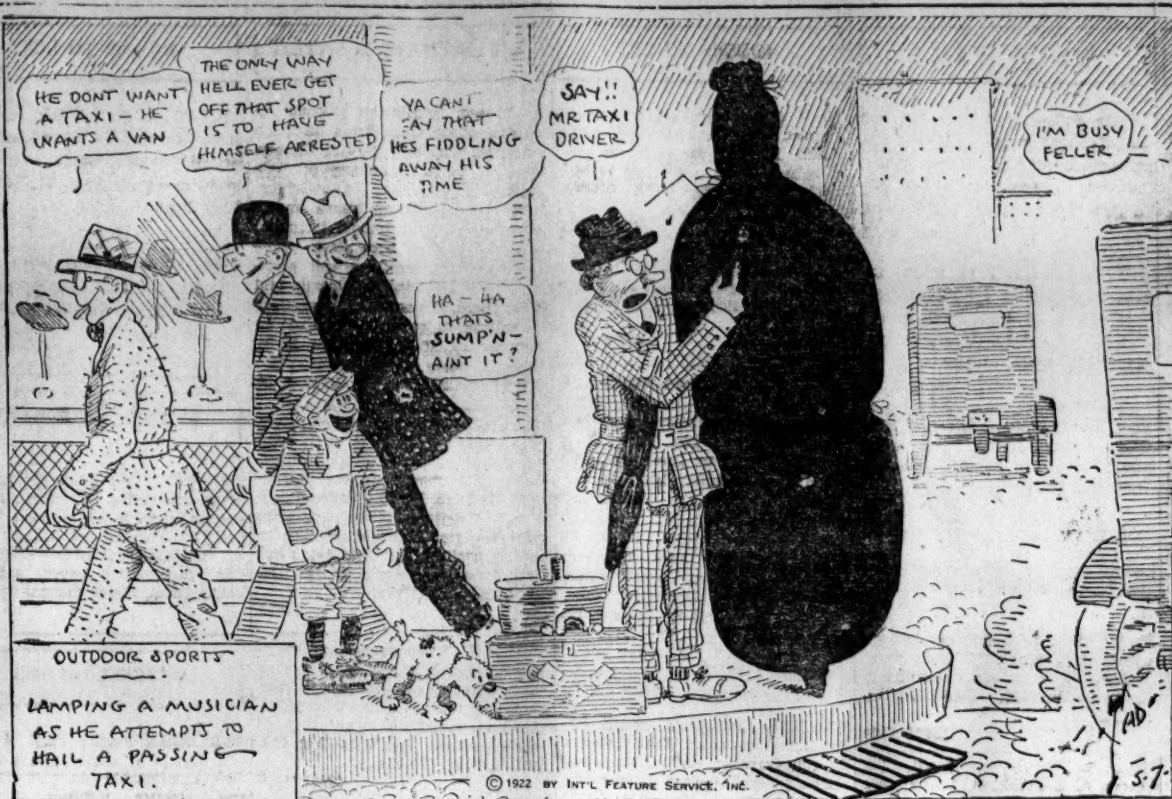

The fans particularly do not understand why the sailor teams do not play full nine inning games when the opportunity offers, instead of curtailing their contests to seven innings, as they have recently. And not being in the confidence of the naval athletic authorities is forthrightly at present. It does seem, however, that the sailors might be prevailed upon to play their games out when there is daylight enough to do so, and the suggestion is hereby respectfully submitted to Manager Gallop that he take steps to see that this is done.

Manager Gallop is fully sensible to both viewpoints, and he said for him that he is doing everything possible to get all the baseball played that it is possible to play, and to start the games

The Other Half Of This Great Battery Was Assault

Dear Sir— I see that Roughtown played their second and third opening games yesterday.

How many times did that conception of hoodlums open a season?

Yours of no time, FRANK BRODEN, Staten Island.

The Boots League was often called the Umbrella Circuit because it opened and closed so often.

The reason for the infectious dosing was Gink Fowler's judgment on close plays. Every time Gink distilled a decision, he mob would chase him around he bases.

Gink would pull in his ears to reduce the air pressure and go after all world's records from fifty yards up to the moon.

That was the finish of that season.

But next day Gink would crack

Shanghai Beats Hongkong In Annual Interport Polo Match By 6 Goals To 5

Individual Excellence Counted More Than Mounting In Competition

an easy goal bringing the score to 4-2 in favor of Shanghai. Hongkong combined better in the fourth period. They attacked in stronger fashion. Neville centered again and Fisher scored the third goal for the visitors, bringing the score to 4-3.

In the fifth chukker Neville gave Bibby a good position and scored from an off-side drive taking the score to 4-4. Dallas later, after a very long drive at goal, was fortunate enough to score through two Hongkong men. The score at this stage was 5-4.

The sixth chukker was very fast with the calibre of polo much higher than in the previous sessions. Neville for the Hongkong team in this period rode clean through from mid-field, to a nice center goal, in spite of two or three local players opposing. The score was brought to 5-5.

The seventh chukker was a blank insofar as scoring was concerned. It was in the eighth that Bibby was put out of the game with a shot on the high shins, and the Hongkong team reduced to three. McMichael counted the final goal for Shanghai with but little opposition.

Bibby was carried away for hospital treatment, with no assurance that he was momentarily incapacitated. The match concluded with the fourth annual victory for the local four.

Baseball Notes

as advertised. Mr. Gallop, though, can only make suggestions and submit requests. He is not in the position of a league manager with a lash hanging over a lot of hired athletes, which is something that the fans should always bear in mind when thinking of the baseball situation here.

Also the fans should bear in mind that they have the opportunity in Shanghai of witnessing a tremendous lot of baseball for the moderate subscription they are asked to pay annually, and that, all things considered, ten berries will not go as far anywhere as it does when applied to the purchase of the little pasteboard that entitles the holder to witness a whole season of baseball in Shanghai.

Shanghai Beats Buffalo, 6-3 Score

that the last one got through Boland's sieve. Mal prodded his catcher to third with a snarling, over second, and audaciously walked down to the middle station while Griffith held the ball. While then got to first via the sieve, whereupon our old friend Billie cracked out a beautiful single, scoring the battery mates. Kingman tried his dullest to push the middle gardener and shortstopper over, but Griffith had his number, whiffing him. That brought our total to six, where it stopped. Hoppy got a blow in the next session but it didn't fatten anything except his already corpulent average.

The Buffalo gang evidently shot their bolt in the third, for in the next two sessions they were rocking chairs and knitting needles for Mal, who set them down in order.

Here are the bob-tailed statistics:

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 22, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 3/4d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 70 1/2 cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 44 1/2.

The only change of importance in the official quotations here today was a drop in the Gold Dollar rate to 78 1/2.

Our market, in the early part of the morning, was on the easy side, business in Sterling at one time being done as low as 3-6 1/2 for June, and 3-6 1/4 for July-August.

Gold Dollars were done at 78 1/2 for June, and 78 1/4 for July-August.

Later in the day, however, rates steadied up, at one time as high as 3s. 6 1/2 d. being done for June Sterling, and 78 1/2 for Gold Dollars. The market closed steady with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 6 1/2 d. for all deliveries to August, and of Gold Dollars at 78 1/2.

America and the Continent sold a small amount of silver in London yesterday, and the market there is reported as steady.

New York report their market as steady, with small sellers.

KINGMAN & BROS.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, osteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

- (1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
- (2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
- (3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday:

Exchange:—The price of silver in London has remained comparatively steady throughout the week, today's quotation of 36 1/4 d. for ready and forward records an advance of 1/4 d. since this day last week. Locally the market has ruled extremely quiet. T.T. on London after touching 3s. 7d. closes at 3s. 6 1/2 d. with an easy undertone. The New York-London rate has been very erratic, fluctuating between 43 1/2 and 44 1/2, closing quotation being 44 1/2, this has caused a very uncertain feeling in our market here. No improvement can be recorded in business regarding imports.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tis. 27,025,000, an increase of Tis. 872,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $23,080,000, an increase of $340,000.

Estimated value Tis. 50,840,000 as against Tis. 52,680,000 held at this time last year.

FIVE COURTS JUDGMENT IN BRITISH COURT

Judge Peter Grain Gives Ruling In Dispute Over Property

Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday handed down his decision in the action brought by Mr. K. E. Newman as counsel for Mr. G. A. D. Goslett and others against Mr. W. A. C. Platt, secretary of the Five Courts Property, which had sought relief from and alteration and varying of a trust deed created in 1848.

In his ruling, Judge Grain directed that the registered owners of the properties, lots 78 and 138 belonging to the Five Courts hold as trustees for the shareholders of the Five Courts property; that the registered owners may convey the same to such shareholders as may be directed; that trustees may be substituted from time to time and vested with the property, no removal, retirement of present trustees or for other reasons and causes for substitutions of other trustees for the present; that the applicants are the beneficial owners as tenants in common of the respective shares.

Judge Grain, in his judgment, reviewed the history of the Shanghai Five Courts property. On January 5, 1848 a parcel of land in Shanghai described as lots 78 was conveyed to Robert Powell Saul in trust for the use of certain British subjects, while another lot, No. 138, was conveyed on February 7, 1855 to Edmund Deacon in trust for the use of British subjects. These properties became transferred June, 1905 to Mr. W. A. C. Platt as Secretary of the Five Courts. In 1851 there were two Five Courts in use which were greatly damaged by a gale in 1852 and rebuilt in the following year.

Judge Grain said: "It has been proved to me that for a great many years there have been no claims against the property other than representatives of the eleven shareholders, namely the present applicants who are applying together for an alteration of the trust in 1856 a request was made and continued in use till 1867. There appears to have been a new Five Courts club formed in 1862 to 1869. The latter continued to 1877, when Chinese houses were erected on a greater part of the land. But the bowling club which was formed in 1867 and continues to the present day still claims part of the land to remain in use in the application of the trust, namely as a place of recreation for certain British subjects. There is no doubt that when these Chinese houses were allowed to be built on the land there was breach of the trust, but there was no fraud or deceit connected with the breach and no proceedings have been taken on the breach from that date to this. The question has never been raised nor objection taken at any time. Therefore the Statute of Limitations applies and the thing is cured."

CHILDREN'S CONSTIPATION.

Baby's Own Tablets a Safe and Simple Remedy.

The careful mother will always safeguard her infant or young children against constipation. Care in feeding and the administering of Baby's Own Tablets when necessary are the best means of prevention and cure.

Mrs. Albert Groat, of 512 Smith St., Providence, Rhode Island, writes:

"My baby was so constipated that I did not know what to do for her. Then I learned of Baby's Own Tablets and since she has taken them she has been entirely well. I am glad to recommend the Tablets to all mothers and would not think of being without them myself."

To mothers everywhere Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are a real friend. They are equally harmless and helpful to the youngest infant as to the child of 6 years or more, are a specific for indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever; make teething easy, promote restful sleep and good appetite, drive out worms. Obtainable from chemists, also at 60 cents the vial, post free from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

London Gives Greatest Of All Welcomes To Home-coming Prince

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 21.—The Prince of Wales received a thunderous welcome on landing at ten this morning. The guns of the warships firing a farewell salute. The Prince received the naval and military chiefs and the civic dignitaries and then began a triumphal progress through the streets of London and Plymouth.

Replying to an address of welcome at Plymouth, of which town the Royal Highness is Lord High Admiral, the Prince said: "It is now eight months since I sailed from England. It has been a wonderful and varied experience. When the Renown entered Plymouth Sound yesterday, I could not but feel the thrill of homecoming."

"With such a wonderful West-country welcome I realised that was home indeed." Then the cheering began with a great roar from the Renown which was taken up by the crews of H. M. S. Hood and the flotilla of destroyers and re-echoed by the privileged spectators on the wayside, swelling in the streets of the Prince with his brother, the Duke of York, who was the first to greet him on board the Renown, started his drive to the station.

TRAIN HALTED
Throughout the journey to London, the train slowed down frequently to allow the crowds at the stations to catch a glimpse of the smiling figure at the window. At Exeter the Prince leaned out, waving his handkerchief in response to the cheers of the crowds.

The people of London began filing the route from Paddington station to Buckingham Palace soon after dawn, the throng increasing in density until it was impossible to estimate its numbers. The concourse surged round the Palace, bedecked with Alexandra roses, and revelling in the sunshine.

Paddington Station was a blaze of color with the mingled hues of British and Allied flags, the scarlet and gold of the guard of honor and the gorgeous uniforms of the diplomats and Indian princes.

The crimson-covered stands were packed long before the Prince's arrival, the crowd recognising and cheering various dignitaries, who had come to welcome the Prince, notable among whom were the Aga Khan, Earl Haig, Earl Beatty, Princess Mary, who was dressed in pink, Viscount Lascelles, Mr. Lloyd George, and Earl Balfour.

More and more notables arrived until the array of Cabinet Ministers, diplomats and officials formed a dense crowd on the platform. The greatest enthusiasm was reserved for the King and Queen, the former wearing an Admiral's uniform, who arrived at 3:15, followed by the Duke of Connaught.

PRINCE GREETED
As the train entered the station, the Prince was visible at a window and was welcomed with frantic cheers. He stepped out of the train eagerly, grasping his father by the hand and embracing his mother.

After greeting the other Royalties, His Royal Highness shook hands first with Mr. Lloyd George and then with all the distinguished personages present. After the inspection of the guard of honor, a brief interval of waiting was filled by a choir of one of the stands singing the Welsh National Anthem. Then the Prince of Wales with the King and his brothers entered an open landau and started for the Palace amid a wild outburst of enthusiasm.

for the Prince" were the prelude to roars of cheering the Prince half rising in his seat and smiling and bowing to right and left in acknowledgement.

It was altogether the most wonderful welcome London has ever given. It was essentially the people's day. Crowds lingered round the Palace long after the ceremonies of reception by the Royal Household had terminated.

The Prince appeared on the balcony of Buckingham Palace with the rest of the Royal Family in response to the insistent demands of the crowd. He merely waved his acknowledgements but, on arriving at his home, York House, an hour later, he obliged the clamoring crowd with a brief speech from the window, thanking them heartily for their kind welcome and adding, "I need not tell you how delighted I am to be home again."

The King in a message to the people says: "The Queen and I are deeply touched by today's remarkable demonstration. Our joy in welcoming our dear son is increased by the affection and enthusiasm of his reception from the vast crowds assembled to greet him. He has safely returned from a long and responsible tour and I am confident that my people share our humble thanks to God for this happy and memorable day."

Vladivostok—Outpost Of Japanese Militarism

EVENTS in North China have somewhat thrown into the shade the changes that are taking place at Vladivostok. At the beginning of the month dissatisfaction with the Merkuloff regime became so acute that the Merkuloff Brothers found it advisable to take refuge under the direct protection of the Japanese military forces. Even the tame People's Assembly, brought into being by the Japanese Military Command through the agency of Merkuloff, had lost its patience and could no longer put up with Merkuloffian corruption and incompetence. It had become clear that the Merkuloffs must go, and the temper displayed by the Assembly was such that the Japanese authorities decided that it also must go.

A coup d'état, stage-managed by the Japanese Military Command, has therefore been effected, and now General Diedrichs, as responsible to Japanese suggestion as the Merkuloffs have been, has taken over the government of the port and of that part of the Maritime Province that is under the Japanese heels, having tendered a nominal allegiance to the Merkuloff Government, which is being recognised pending the election of a new Assembly, which has been dismissed, and a new Assembly is to be elected. Needless to say, it will be a body packed as tightly as the Japanese Military Command can pack it with the proper sort of representatives, namely, those who will see eye to eye with the local representatives of Japanese imperialism. The old pieces will have thus been cleared off the chess-board and a new game will be begun. Japanese purposes do not always appear on the surface of Japanese acts of state, however, and Japan has aimed at something more than merely discarding worn-out tools like the Merkuloffs and unreliable tools such as the Assembly had come to be; she has incidentally, but very importantly, provided what she is already holding up to the world as a proof of the unsettled conditions in the Maritime Province, which conditions, she asserts, demonstrate the impossibility of her evacuation of troops at the present time.

This question of evacuation is really a much greater question than appears at first sight. Japan is putting out feelers for reopening negotiations with the Far Eastern Republic, negotiations which are intended to take up again the subjects under discussion at Dairen. The Far Eastern Republic takes a definite stand on this matter, namely, that evacuation, complete, effective and final, must have been carried out before any negotiations can take place whatever. The Far Eastern Republic has had one experience of negotiating with a loaded pistol placed to its hand, and refuses to undergo another. Negotiations during military occupation are not negotiations between equals, but between the harrow and the toad. This is not mere surmise, but the teaching of a bitter experience.

At Dairen there were two main subjects of negotiation, namely, a general agreement, covering commercial and economic issues, and a military agreement, dealing with evacuation. Underlying both these issues was a much greater one, the whole question in fact of the future of Vladivostok and of the Maritime Province, and it is in the light of this greater issue that any question of a renewed conference must be considered. Negotiations while Vladivostok and the Maritime Province are still under the heel of Japan would mean negotiations at a grave disadvantage for the Far Eastern Republic, and any agreement reached under such conditions would undoubtedly prejudice the future of Vladivostok and of the Maritime Province.

That future lies in one of two directions. On the one hand, if the Japanese Military Command should have its way, Vladivostok would become an out-post of the Japanese Empire, an outlying fort from which sallies would be made on the surrounding country with the object of gradually establishing a firm control of a permanent character there, with a view to ultimate annexation. Should this be the line of future development, then the alternative course of events would be precluded, for the two possibilities are mutually exclusive. If Vladivostok becomes a mere outpost of Japanese militarism, then any possible future for the port along economic lines is impossible. Any sane concern for the future of Vladivostok would look first of all to its economic future. The port is the natural outlet for the produce of a vast and wealthy region, and under normal conditions would have an economic basis for existence as the entrepot for the whole Russian Far East.

It is as serving this function that the port has been built up in the past. Vladivostok is not self-supporting or self-contained. The immediate neighborhood of the port has not the economic resources to maintain any large population. That is the reason why, at the present moment, conditions in Vladivostok are so distressing. Economically it is dead, as Japanese military control has killed the economic life of the Maritime Province, destroyed trade, made production unprofitable, dislocated the machinery of commerce and thus deprived Vladivostok of everything on which it depends for its existence. And so long as Vladivostok remains under the heels of Japan and her militarists these conditions will prevail. Japan is not concerned to see Vladivostok flourish. All Japan desires is to hold Vladivostok as a pistol at the heart of the Far Eastern Republic, and to divert all the external trade of the Republic through her own ports, through Dairen and through Korea. This, in very large measure, was the object of the attempt to obtain temporary, with a view to permanent, control of the Hunchun and Fossiet Bay region.

Now, it is clear that the future of Vladivostok is a matter of importance not merely to the people of the Far Eastern Republic, but also to the commercial community in the Far East generally. Japan is rapidly acquiring a stranglehold on many departments of the Far Eastern trade. Japan's direct aim in the permanent occupation of Vladivostok is to complete the control she already has on trade in the northern Far East. By an elaborate system of rebates and special favors to her own people, by the cunning manipulation of rolling stock on the South Manchurian railways, by the unwarranted use to which she allows her post office system throughout Manchuria to be put, and in many other ways, Japan is seeking to get all the trade of the northern mainland of east Asia into her own hands, or to kill such trade as she cannot control.

It is time that chambers of commerce and every other commercial organization began to ask themselves what is the inner meaning of the continued occupation of Vladivostok and the Maritime Province, and to bring to bear what pressure they can to effect a termination of the occupation.

A HELPING HAND

Janet greeted her dearest enemy
even more enviously than usual, noting with a pang of envy that she was wearing a new and particularly becoming hat. The together they entered the cinema.
She realised only too clearly that she had reached one of those crises
which beset the path of every girl when she sees the prospect of losing the only man who counts—
for the moment—and she did not feel exactly elated at the prospect.
She and the Dearest Enemy between whom the affections of the particular young man in question had been fluctuating in the most tantalising manner for months past, were killing time before meeting him for tea at Rumpel-mayer's, and Janet felt instinctively that the Dearest Enemy's new hat
would probably do the trick.

"I say, dear," cooed her companion when they were comfortably settled in the dark within.
"I'm sure my nose needs just a little dab of powder, and I quite forgot to bring any out with me.
Be a sport and lend me yours. I shall be able to use it all right before the lights go up."
"Certainly, darling," replied Janet, handing her little box to the Dearest Enemy, who helped herself liberally. Janet's chance had come.

Even the smartest of new hats
is no match against a freely rouged nose.

THE THREE SAILORS

A couple of sailors got into a discussion over the kind of animal a heifer was. One sailor claimed that the heifer belonged to the hog family, the other that it was a variety of sheep.

Finally they called in Boatwain
Bill.
"Bill, wot's a heifer—is it a hog or is it a sheep?" they said.
Boatwain Bill bit off a large chew reflectively. Then he said:
"To tell you the truth, mates, I dunno much about poultry."

THE EXCEPTION

The old couple had sat by the fireside in silence for an hour.
At last the wife said, "Of what are you think, John?"
"I'm think what a lot of queer folk there are in the world," answered John. "They're all queer except thee and me—and thee's a bit!"

Harding Friendship Not Enough For Re-election Of Unpopular Congressmen

BY MARK SULLIVAN

Washington, May 15.—We now have had a sufficient number of isolated elections and primaries to serve as a reasonable basis for some fair deductions about the thing that politicians call "the drift of the country." Some of the deductions about one or another of these various elections, that were made immediately after the event, were a little too early to be wholly accurate. The writer has been at some pains to consult with most of the candidates and the party managers who were intimately concerned in these elections and primaries, and what is said is based on as thorough an examination as it is practicable to make.

One deduction generally made by the Democrats from the Indiana primary is largely correct. It is unquestionably true that in this Indiana primary many of Senator New's leaders, spokesmen and friends based their claims for him largely on the plea that in a political sense he had been a loyal supporter of President Harding, and that further than this he was personally one of the President's friends.

LESSON OF INDIANA

The lesson of the Indiana
primary seems clear that this plea is not alone sufficient to enable a sitting Senator or a sitting Congressman to prevail over an aspirant as strong as ex-Senator Beveridge was. This lesson will be unwelcome to many Republican Congressmen and Senators. It is clear that in their appeal for re-nomination and re-election they cannot rely too much, in the absence of other things, on the record of Harding as President.
Harding is popular throughout the country and Congress and the Senate are not popular.

Republican Senators and Congressmen, who have been hoping to escape the unpopularity of the bodies of which they are members, by placing themselves under the mantle of the popular President, are running some risk, in the primaries and elections, the public is apparently going to insist on voting for Congressmen and Senators and are not going to vote approval or disapproval of President Harding's record.

BEVERIDGE'S STRENGTH

In calling attention to this aspect of Senator New's defeat, it is possible to be over-emphatic on of proportion to the facts. It must always be remembered that Senator New had a very strong opponent and that he only lost by less than twenty thousand votes out of a total of three hundred and fifty thousand. With an opponent of anything less than the extraordinary personal strength
ex-Senator Beveridge has, Senator New might readily have won the primary, and the politicians might now be pointing to the result as an endorsement of the Harding administration. Any adequate analysis of this Indiana result must assign the principal cause of it as the outstanding personality of ex-Senator Beveridge and the extraordinary effective campaign
he conducted.

TAXATION ISSUE

One factor that counted largely in the Indiana primary, and which will count largely in the coming Nebraska primaries as well as in many other primaries and elections, is the weight of taxation. The sum of the taxes now being paid by many voters to the Federal government, to the State, to the city and to other local governmental bodies, causes acute discontent. There are many voters in Indiana and elsewhere throughout the country whose aggregate taxes today are as much as a thousand percent larger than they were ten years ago.

This subject of taxation will undoubtedly cut a large figure in all the coming elections and will in all cases obviously operate against whichever party is in power in the States concerned.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS

One other clear deduction from many of the recent elections is that in the cities of the country,
large and small, there is a trend away from the Republicans to the Democrats. It is chiefly in the cities that the so-called "foreign vote" has most weight. In the election of 1920 the Republicans stared the issue of the League of Nations in such a way as to draw to themselves many voters ordinarily Democratic. In that 1920 election what is called "the foreign vote," including the Irish, the Germans, and the Italians, was cast on the Republican side. It is now apparent that a good deal of this vote is swinging back to its normal allegiance to the Democrats. In practically every municipal election held this year, the Democrats have made marked gains.

COPLEY'S DEFEAT

In elections in territories which are less than State-wide in extent, the result is often determined by conditions so completely local that deductions made by politicians and others as far distant as Washington may be grotesquely wrong. For example, one of the most important events of the present political year was the displacement of the veteran Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, Ira C. Copley,
of Illinois by a wholly new man.
It is probable that the chief cause of this result was a purely local issue, an event so simple as the raising of the price of gas. Congressman Copley is the chief owner of gas plants in the Eleventh Illinois District.

SOLDIER BONUS

The soldiers' bonus, which was widely interpreted as having been a factor in this contest, really did not count one way or the other.
Congressman Copley's opponent declared for an immediate payment in cash to the soldiers.
Nevertheless, the judgment of the best observers is that this factor did not influence the result one way or the other. Congressman Copley's district is made up about half of corn and dairy territory, and about half of an industrial valley which includes five plants
of the United States Steel Corporation, the Elgin Typewriter Company,
and The Oliver Typewriter Company. The discontent which unseated Congressman Copley was more marked in the industrial parts of his district than in the farming portion.

NEW YORK RESULTS

The most conspicuous, square-
cut contest between a Democrat and a Republican was one which occurred in a New York State Congressional district. This district had been carried by the Republicans in 1920 with a majority of nearly thirty thousand. That, however, was a normal Republican majority. The ordinary Republican majority in this district is somewhere between fifteen and eighteen thousand. As against this, the Republicans carried this year by a majority reduced to only a little over three thousand.

If fifteen or eighteen thousand be taken as the normal Republican majority, then the reduction to
only a little over three thousand is very formidable indeed. The same proportion of reduction applied to the country generally would more than wipe out the majority of seven millions, which Harding had in 1920.

It is a fact, however, that there were local aspects of this election, which make it impossible to regard it as typical of the country as a whole. The chief issue on which the Democratic candidate made his remarkable gains was the Volstead act.

WET AND DRY ISSUE

It might as well be admitted by those who deal in political realities that the Volstead act is this year a more formidable issue than in any of the previous years in which it has figured. It is the Volstead act, and discontent with one aspect or another of prohibition, or with the enforcement of prohibition, that accounts to some extent for the increasing Democratic vote in the cities. Against this it is said that the Volstead act is not everywhere a Democratic issue.

There are States and Congressional districts in which the Democrats are on the dry side of the Volstead issue and there are Republican Senators and Congressmen who are on the wet side. Also as respects this particular New York district, it is a fact that this is one of the communities in which grape growing was a considerable industry. Several of the American champagnes before the war came from grapes grown in this community. Further than this it appears to be a fact that the prohibitionists in this district did not take as much interest in the election as they might have been expected to take. One dependable observer says that "most of the women refused to vote at all.
They said they could not see how things were any better than in the days before prohibition, and they would not go to the polls."

Aside from the Volstead act, it is clear that the considerable "railroad vote" in this district went Democratic. This is typical of the country as a whole. The towns where railroad workers vote in large numbers, or in which railroad shops are located, are tending to go Democratic. The railroad worker as a rule is voting the Democratic ticket this year.

The railroad worker everywhere is a McAdoo man. The Republican vote in this New York district was reduced by a certain amount of Republican discontent against the local party organization and by a feeling of resentment against the holding of any special election at all with its attendant cost.

A Gray-Speckled Hen

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

Here is another letter that tells a story, and a good story it is, first of the joys of farm life, which many a city man still remembers from the days of his youth, thank God, and second of the deceptions of the senses that from the beginning of human history have filled dark corners and unfamiliar places with ghosts, hobgoblins, wraiths, and other thrilling creations of the ever-ready imagination.

"I enjoy your articles very much, and I want to tell you of a little incident that happened this morning, not because the incident is, in itself, anything, but because it may make your thoughts flow, and also your pen. You are doing a great work in brushing away the cobwebs of the mind.

"I was working in the barn, which, by the way, is rather dark, when, lo and behold! surely there lay my pet gray-speckled hen, apparently dead. Her head was thrown backward, and my first thoughts were that she had been dead for some time. I placed a five-tined fork beneath her, thinking to carry out, when, to my surprise, her body had apparently no weight!

"I stopped to investigate more closely and found that my supposed dead speckled hen was really only a wisp of hay, which had so cruelly deceived me. My joy knew no bounds, when, lo and behold! here comes my old speckled hen singing the age-old song of spring, and never, at least to me, had the song rung so sweet.

"This incident leads me to wonder how many of the old dead hens of the past were only wisps of hay. Truly,

"GUY LERMON,

"Starbuck, Minn."

Mr. Lermom's letter indicates that there is some resemblance between his mental attitude toward nature and that of the Roman post-philosopher, Lucretius, who wrote in the first century before the Christian era. Lucretius was fond of pointing out how misunderstandings of the causes lead to superstitions of the mind. If the incident of the supposed dead hen had occurred in his barn he would surely have found a place for it somewhere in his great poem "De Rerum Naturae." He would have used it to poke another hole in the crumbling temple of the pagan gods.

Lucretius was a proud Roman aristocrat, evidently very familiar with the city society of his time, but he went to the country for his facts when he wished to study the laws and secrets of nature, even of human nature.

It was upon the basis of such observations that he founded his celebrated theory of the atoms, which has excited so much astonishment by its fore-glimpses of modern scientific doctrines.

I have little doubt that he owned a farm, and took the greatest delight in learning all the ways of the hens and geese, horses and cattle; that he knew how to handle a "five-tined fork;" how to interpret the comfortable clucking of contented hens, and the ear-splitting self-applause of the egg-layers, and understood the motives of the cock:

"Who's wont with wings to flap away the night
From off the stage, and call the beaming morn
With clarion voice."

Indeed, to one who has been to the country manner born, it seems almost evident that Lucretius was thinking of a fragrant afternoon in his dusty, well-filled, hay-mow, crossed with golden shafts or sunlight piercing the gloom from the pigeon-holes, when, in illustration of the atomic motions, he wrote:

"... for behold whenever
The sun's light, and the rays let in, pour down
Across dark halls of houses,
thou wilt see
The many mites in many a manner mixed
Amid a void in the very light of the rays,
And battling on, as in eternal strife,
And in battalions contending without halt.
In meetings, partings, hurried up and down."

(I quote from William Ellery Leonard's translation.)

Ask a farmer's boy if he has ever seen that sight; he must be a very inobservant boy if he hasn't, and a very unimaginative one if he never saw in those swirling atoms of dust, aerial armies in endless advances and retreats.

I remark of Mr. Lermom's incident that it points out with admirable clearness the greatest source of superstitious fancies and deceptions, which is the habit, in doubtful cases, of basing conclusions on the report of a single one of the five senses, when some, or all, of the others may be called upon to furnish confirmation.

To his eyes the speckled hen was dead beyond question, but the muscular sense of touch instantly checked the thought, and that of hearing finally ended the deception. Generally it is the sense of sight that is too credulously trusted; and sight is, probably, the sense most easily deceived. Ghosts owe everything to this blind confidence in a fallible sense, which dealers in ghosts find no difficulty in fooling with photographs.

NOTICE

The presence in the French Concession of wandering dogs constitutes, at this time of the year, a particularly grave danger. Many cases of hydrophobia have been notified.

In these circumstances special instructions have been given to the Police to organize, as from today,
battues in which all ownerless dogs
found in the streets of the Concession will be, if it is possible,
taken and put in pound, or, if not,
killed on the spot.

Residents in the French Concession, who will certainly appreciate the imperative necessity of this measure, are asked to take care that their dogs are not allowed out without muzzles.

They will also render a great service to the community if they will notify the Police or Sanitary Department of all cases of the death of suspected dogs occurring at their houses or in the neighbourhood.

Earthquake Rocks Parts Of Kansu

(China Press Correspondence)

Kuyuan, Kansu, June 9.—Last week we had quite a strong earthquake which rocked the picture frames on the walls. It happened

3 o'clock in the morning, which made us jump up quickly. This evening we had two more shocks,

one of which was heavy. It is strange that these quakes are continuing so long after that first severe one.

The people here can't make it out. Their theory of an ox turning itself in the earth doesn't seem to carry weight any more. They are now beginning to realise that there is some God in the heavens,

who is displeased with them because of their many sins. It has taken three earthquakes to move them to repentance.

Now on view
